ABSTRACT

Data collected during the seventh and eighth annual studies of the application and enrollment patterns of State University of New York (SUNY) transfer students are tabulated. For the purpose of this study, transfer students were defined as undergraduate students who were enrolled at a SUNY institution for the first time in a fall term, but who had attended other colleges or universities prior to the given fall term. Summary tables provide information by prior institution and student level for four-year and two-year institutions and for the four coordinating areas. Enrollment trend information for Fall 1967 through Fall 1977 is provided for transfer, continuing, returning students, and for full-time undergraduate students by level at the four-year institutions. Detailed information is provided on undergraduate transfer students for each institution for Fall 1976 and Fall 1977. A map indicating the constituent institutions of the State University of New York and a publications list are appended. (BH)

PREFACE

The data included in this report represent that collected during the seventh and eighth annual studies of the application and enrollment patterns of University transfer students conducted by the Central Staff Office of Institutional Research and Analytical Studies. The study was conducted in response to the many requests for information regarding the inter-campus mobility of students attending institutions under the program of the State University of New York.

Because of the importance of reliable information regarding transfer students for regional and system-wide planning, and inter-institutional cooperation, the data gathered for this study have been organized and presented in a variety of formats designed to provide immediate answers to a wide range of questions which may be formulated regarding transfer students. The basic data are presented so as to directly relate the transfer student's prior institution and current SUNY institution and entry level. This information is provided for individual institutions, institution types, and institutions by coordinating area. Additional information is provided regarding trends in transfer students, relationship of the associate degree to transfers, admissions success of transfer students and other related information.

The acquisition of the data contained in this study involved a good deal of work on the part of the individual institutions. We appreciate the cooperation and effort required to provide these data. We would particularly like to thank our professional, statistical and typing staffs whose efforts made this report possible. Special thanks goes to Mses. DeCrescenzo and Dickson who prepared the final typescript for publication, and Ms. Mazzone who was responsible for the distribution of the publication.

INTRODUCTION

Transfer students defined

Because of the conventional use of the term 'transfer students' and because different sources of transfer data may exist, the definition of transfer students used for this study is of special importance. Transfer students are herein defined as those undergraduate students who were enrolled at a State University institution for the first time in a Fall term, but who had attended other colleges or universities prior to the given Fall term. With this definition, we have transfer students moving from two-year to other two-year colleges, from senior to other senior institutions, from senior institutions to two-year colleges, as well as from two-year to senior institutions. Even if no credits were transferable, albeit an uncommon case, the student moving from one institution to another would be a transfer student.

Students who simply change majors at the same institution are not considered transfer students in this study. Graduate students are not included in this study. The New York State College of Veterinary Medicine and the State College of Optometry which offer only graduate programs, are not included in this report.

The number of transfer students reported here is an understatement because of the difficulty some institutions have in obtaining background information on those students who are not admitted to specific degree programs by application. For example, in Fall 1976 there are 684 transfer students (2.7 percent) whose prior higher education history is unknown. There are undoubtedly many others who are not even known to be transfer students, but these are not likely to be seeking admittance to a program.

Design of the study

Transfer student studies can be designed to follow identified students longitudinally, observing their success patterns. The investment of effort and time required for such studies would be substantial, given the size and complexity of the State University of New York. For this reason, a different approach was used in this study.

The paradigm used here was the analysis of the higher education backgrounds of transfer students enrolled in the various levels of the institutions under the program of the State University of New York. Some types of conclusions cannot flow from such a study; e.g., students who were unsuccessful in obtaining transfer acceptances anywhere in these insitutions are not included even though they were formerly enrolled at one of the institutions included and may have graduated in University-parallel programs. Therefore, this study is based on an input model, not a true follow-up model.

Differences between this study and data from the Admissions Processing Center

The data from the Central Staff Admissions Processing Center (A.P.C.) does not correspond with the data of this study. The major difference is in the populations surveyed. Several institutions under the program of the State University of New York do not participate with the A.P.C. and consequently the data collected by A.P.C. is not system-wide. This report, however, includes system-wide data for all undergraduate institutions under the program of the State University of New York. The census date for the collection of data also differs. The data included in this study shows enrolled students at a specific time after classes have started and enrollments have stabilized.

Regional statistics

The articulation of transfer students is an important consideration in regional planning and cooperation among the institutions of the State University. This report includes an index of State University institutions by coordinating area. In addition, data on the educational background and placement of transfer students, undergraduate admissions and enrollment data are provided by coordinating area.

Organization of the report

This report contains data on two years of transfer statistics, Fall 1976 and Fall 1977. Part One presents summary tables for transfer student data for Fall 1976 (pages 3-19) and for Fall 1977 (pages 20-36). Part Two includes trend tables containing data on: undergraduate transfer credit course students, undergraduate enrollment of first-time, transfer and continuing and returning students, and full-time undergraduate students by level at senior institutions. Parts Three and Four contain tables on undergraduate transfer students for each institution for Fall 1976 and Fall 1977, respectively. Part Five, the Appendix, includes footnote references, a map indicating the constituent institutions of the State University of New York and the Publications List.

SUMMARY OF DATA

General Findings

A total of 26,702 transfer students were enrolled in the Fall of 1977 at State University institutions. The corresponding number for Fall of 1976 was 25,218 transfer students. The Fall of 1976 was the first year that the total number of transfer students enrolled in State University declined. The numbers of transfer students increased in the Fall of 1977. Any comparisons of aggregated SUNY data from previous years must be made with caution because the Community Colleges under the sponsorship of the New York City Board of Higher Education became part of the City University of New York as of July 1, 1975. The following table, derived from Table 28 (page 40) is designed to aid such comparisons.

Year	Total transfer students reported	Transfers at Community Colleges under the sponsorship of the New York City Board of Higher Education	Transfer students excluding Community Colleges under the sponsorship of the New York City Board of Higher Education
Fall 1977	26,702	Not applicable	26,702
Fall 1976	25,218	Not applicable	25,218
Fall 1975	27,320	Not applicable	27,320
Fall 1974	27,745	1,209	26,536
Fall 1973	25,310	966	24,344
Fall 1972	21,946	1,188	20,758
Fall 1971	20,711[a]	640	20,071
Fall 1970	19,681	397	19,284
Fall 1969	14,537	513	14,024

[a] Excludes Empire State College.

The above table separately identifies transfer students at the Community Colleges sponsored by the New York City Board of Higher Education.

The transfer students enrolled in the Fall of 1977 represent 8.6 percent of the total undergraduate enrollment for that term. This percent represents a slow but steady percent increase of the total enrollment from 6.0 percent in the Fall of 1967.

The distribution of transfer students enrolled in senior institutions and two-year colleges is shifting. The following table derived from Table 27 (page 39) identifies the percentage of all transfer students who were enrolled in senior institutions or two-year colleges for Fall 1973 through Fall 1977.

Fall term	Total transfer students reported	Percent enrolled at Senior Institutions	Percent enrolled at Two-year Colleges
1977	26,702	61.0	39.0
1976	25,218	62.8	37.2
1975	27,320	64.6	35.4
1974	26,536[a]	66.4	33.6
1973	24,344[a]	66.5	33.5

[a] Data adjusted to not include transfer students at the Community Colleges sponsored by the New York City Board of Higher Education.

The majority of transfer students continued to come from institutions within the State University system. The most common type of transfer for both Fall 1976 and Fall 1977 was the student who transferred within the State University system from a two-year to a senior institution, with percentages of: 32.7 and 29.5 respectively, for the two years included in this report.

A brief summary of selected aspects of transfer mobility for Fall 1976 and 1977 expressed as percentages of all transfer students follows.

Trends in Yield of Transfers per Associate Degree

The following table presents data on the yield of transfers. These data represent degrees granted 1970-1971 through 1976-1977 and transfer students at senior institutions Fall 1971 through Fall 1977.

Year	Yield of Transfers per Associate Degree
	Total[a]	Community Colleges			Ag. & Tech. Colleges

Fall 1973	.1690	.1736	.0144	.2413	.1458
Fall 1972	.1405	.1415	.0338	.1828	.1353
Fall 1971	.1892	.2003	.0215	.2689	.1355

[a] Excludes Associate degrees granted by the State University senior institutions.

[b] Community Colleges under the sponsorship of the New York City Board of Higher Education.

It was obvious over the years that the number of transfer students from Community Colleges under the sponsorship of the New York City Board of Higher Education to other SUNY institutions has been very low. Again, you are cautioned about comparisons from one year to another. The data for these years indicate no set pattern.

Concluding Remarks

A study of this complexity will undoubtedly raise further questions and lead to more insight about the extent and nature of student mobility to and within the State University of New York. It is hoped that the basic information will be useful and that on the basis of these and other data, more students can find ways to further their search for appropriate and rewarding educational experiences.
